

A painterly illustration of a desk or workspace. In the upper right, a large, thick book with a dark blue cover sits on the desk, with a small, clear, crystalline object resting on top of it. Several sheets of paper are scattered around; one in the center is crumpled and pinkish, while another to its right is white with some faint, illegible handwriting. In the upper left, a framed portrait of a woman with dark hair and pointed ears (possibly an elf or a similar fantasy creature) is leaning against the wall. The foreground features a large, light-colored, textured surface, possibly a piece of parchment or a large sheet of paper, with a small, blue and white striped object (like a rolled-up scroll or a small container) and a white, fringed object (like a bookmark or a piece of fabric) resting on it. The overall style is painterly and somewhat surreal, with a warm, slightly muted color palette. A black rectangular box with white text is overlaid in the center of the image.
